The ABMS also provides a comprehensive website — Certification Matters — as a resource for the public to learn more about board certification.

Active, full, and unrestricted medical licensure is a requirement to maintain certification by the ABPN. Licensure data may be reported to the ABPN through the Federation of State Medical Boards, individual state medical licensing boards, or self-reported by physicians. The ABPN cannot guarantee the certification status resulting from the loss or restriction of licensure if the loss or restriction has not been reported to the ABPN. Continuing Certification (CC) participation includes meeting all components of the CC Program as outlined ABPN.com. The information in verifyCERT® is current as of the date indicated, and is for certificates issued by the ABPN. New diplomates will not appear until examintion grades are released, which is approximately 12 weeks following each examination. For information about certificates issued by other Boards, contact the ABMS or the individual issuing Board.
